Re: Juror Summons - James Locascio

To whom it may concern,

James Locascio is currently functioning as a Senior Software Engineer working at one of our largest clients on a major application whose implementation is time critical. His absence from the project at that time would significantly impact the project and our business.

If it is possible to reschedule his jury duty obligation for some time in the future, it would be greatly appreciated.

Sincerely,

Laura N. Palamara
